A comfortable, cheaply-kept lounge in front of Jack Fisher's store proved too strong a temptation for John McDonald's drink-soaked old muscles and he lifted it in, passing without heeding any echo of the creak with the proprietor. Moving a couple of paces, he with the aid of a million dollars announced that he had purchased it. At the Alberta restaurant he entered the coat in a pile of blankets. The store arm of the law was involved and in the person of Sergeant Waters the law descended upon John. After a sharp struggle, he was empowered and handed to the barbers' guild. This was Saturday night. On Monday after examination before Judge Tucker, J.P., John was released through to Lethbridge for a four months' stay. The coat still hangs on its accustomed nail while the poor diabolical has heard and remains engaged in advance for the winter.

Invited Back

The juvenile Bastardians played an engagement here last Friday night. They presented the "Dance Girl," rather tame opera, with a very nebulous plot, but highlighted with some comic music. A very young girl, some of whom have come up from very tender years with the Company, and who still manifest their years with few features, composed this merry bunch and the very favour of the young may that invited this long rather brightest things up for awhile. The class of entertainment most these young artists offer to bewilder the monotony of existence and while the show cannot be listed as high class, yet such an invasion does this old, old town real good. Even the editor had to loosen up and let a checkle-energy, which, of course, must have done him good to release. The offering appealed to all, young or old, and anything that affords relaxation such as this evening's entertainment did, is good in spite of critics' incoherent criticisms. Come again, kiddies, and stay two or three nights next time. This town needs a little freshening up anyway.

Avoid Harsh Drugs

Mildy Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.
If you are subject to constipation you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their action is harmful and sometimes even annoying. Their constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.
We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Boxall's Ointment. These are prompt, soothing and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not grip, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person. They come in three size packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 25 tablets, 25 cents; 50 tablets, 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store. The Review Store, O. L. Henrichs.

Maine Stays A "Dry" State

(Special to News Telegram)
Augusta, Maine, Nov. 7. Maine remains constitutionally prohibition. Given the Plaid and council decided last night to accept the correction in the vote of the four towns east in the special election in September, thus reversing the results as indicated on the face of the first official returns.

Sir John Carling Dies

Former Postmaster General and Minister of Agriculture, stricken by pneumonia in his eighty-fourth year. (Special to the News Telegram)
London, Nov. 6. Senator Sir John Carling, former postmaster general and minister of agriculture, died of pneumonia at his residence here yesterday afternoon, at the age of 84 years. Pneumonia developed only last Friday morning and because of his advanced age the attending physicians held out little hope for his recovery. Sir John had been ill for some time during the Spring, but improved materially during the summer months.
His physician and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, of Ottawa, were at the deathbed of the senator. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Two More Happy

A quiet wedding took place in the Lutheran Church here last Tuesday afternoon, when two well-known young folks of our town were joined together in the holy bonds of matrimony by the pastor, Rev. J.A. Lavik. Ole Thompson who has been in the employ of the Western Canada Lumber Co. for seven years and who has been yard manager here for the greater part of that time, was the groom. Miss Selma Myland, who has been a resident of this town for three or four years was the bride. The ceremony was witnessed by a few personal friends of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for Calgary on the afternoon train. It is understood that the newly wedded pair will take up housekeeping in the near future, in this town.

G. R. Sutherland, who for the past few months has been connected with the Dominion Bank staff here on Tuesday left for Selkirk, Man., to join the staff of the bank at that place. Mr. Sutherland while here has been identified with the Presbyterian Church Sunday School and his going is regretted in the church, and social circles with which he was identified.

Liberalism in Ontario

(Lethbridge Herald).

Nelson W. Bowell is big enough for the shoes of Liberal leader in Ontario, and big enough for the position of Premier of that province. He is the very finest type of man, absolutely clean in his public and private life, possesses high ideals of public service, and under his leadership new vigor and hope should possess the Liberal party in Ontario. Mr. Bowell is a lawyer, who ranks high in Ontario, and as a speaker he has few equals on the platform. He only once attempted to enter public life and that was against W. F. Macdonald in East York.

The Liberal party in Ontario, if it adopts a progressive policy should gain strength in the Legislature in that province. It went out of power because of the misdeeds of some of its leaders, and he had to live down a bad record. Under Mr. Bowell's direction, it should regain its place in public confidence.
T. C. Robinson, K. C., one of the leading Liberals in Ontario, has outlined a policy, which he thinks the Liberals in that province should adopt. It includes planks advocating the absolute control by the province of the retail liquor business, woman suffrage, public ownership, taxation of land values, and increase in the succession duties. Mr. Robinson is a progressive in his ideas and the Liberal party, in order to gain headway, must be progressive. He says further:

"Too long have Liberals in Ontario been opportunists and time-servers chained to methods of expediency and inclined to let men who declined to consult the people, and endeavored to impose upon the community their own, rather than public opinion. The rule of cliques must cease. This must be entirely changed if Liberalism in Ontario is ever again to raise its head and press onward to victory. There must be but one rule in the adoption of a policy for the people of the province of Ontario—namely, to do what is best for the province as a whole and permit the people to say what that best should be."

That's the way to speak out. It is best to be frank. The people want independence within the party.

Fort Fraser

THE HUB OF B.C. ON THE G.T.P.

When the last spike has been driven

In the summer of 1913, when the Grand Trunk Pacific the Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific, three great steel highways, in majestic potency, trail from ocean to ocean, 4000 miles across the Dominion of Canada; when the West-coast province of British Columbia has been brought into competitive commercial communication with almost the entire world; when millions of capital have been invested within her borders in lumbering, mining, fisheries and public utilities, and when the "black banners of industry" are to be seen floating over thousands of cities, towns and villages all over her agricultural, mining and timber areas. What then will be the value of property in a trade centre like FORT FRASER?

1. In the heart of British Columbia, on the main line of the G.T.P., on Fraser Lake and Nechako River commanding over 1000 miles of navigable water way; a natural rail, lake and river distributing point, affording an easy grade for railroad building in every direction.
2. Surrounded by ten million acres of the richest agricultural land in all the west, embracing the famous Nechako, Stuart Lake, Bulkley, Bulkwater, Omineca Lake and Peace River Valleys; also within 125 miles of the big Omineca, Finlay River and Cariboo mining districts, as well as the immense coal-fields just west of the Bulkley Valley.

Fortunes were made by the early investors in Prince Rupert, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Lethbridge.

Now, in its infancy, Fort Fraser has a future brighter than any other new townsite that ever came into existence in the whole of Western Canada.

An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring, when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enameled" paint, but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-acting flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke.

The Fountain Head of Life
Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished and that his whole body is imperceptibly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, purifies the blood, and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in temperament.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrapper. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. In every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a weak cure for a weak remedy or a weak remedy or a weak cure made by any other right in the name of the New York Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. H. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

Ten Rules For Beauty
No. 1. Keep in the open as much as possible. Breathe deeply and regularly while working.

No. 2. Live on a diet of eggs, fruit, vegetables and milk as much as possible.

No. 3. Take a warm bath daily and a sweat bath once a week.

No. 4. Dress loosely and get up early.

No. 5. Go to bed early and get up early.

No. 6. Sleep in a dark room with windows open, and take from seven to eight hours sleep.

No. 7. Take one absolutely quiet day every two weeks, without reading, writing or violent exertion.

No. 8. Avoid worrying. Talk or write your troubles.

No. 9. Merry, and be the best friend possible to you to be to your husband.

No. 10. Be temperate in all pleasures.

Remember: When these things become habits, you are far on the road to beauty, health and happiness.

TELLS OF 'CURES MADE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Thos. Griffin, of Peace River, Landing, Alta. (Special)—Just why Dodd's Kidney Pills retain their wonderful popularity is easily shown by a trip across the prairies. Every town, village and postoffice has at least one man or woman who is ready to tell of pains relieved and strength restored by the great Canadian Kidney Remedy. Let Thos. Griffin of this place tell the statement to the hosts already published.

"When I came to this part of the country," says Mr. Griffin, "I was troubled with a bad back and Rheumatism, and I was unable to do my work. I sent for six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I have never felt better since. I also recommended them to my oldest son who was confined by his bed from Rheumatism."

"Now I know that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine for Rheumatism and the Kidneys. I recommend them to all who are troubled with a complaint of not feeling well."

Dodd's Kidney Pills made their popularity by curing sick kidneys, and they keep their popularity by keeping on curing sick kidneys.

"Very well, believe him if you like, but I never said it. I should not think of permitting myself to be seen at your funeral."—Chicago Record-Herald.

How is it that a widow, bowed in grief at the funeral, and seeing a man, can tell after it is over who was a widow, who she is severely, if it is a day, and as ugly a man as there is in the world? The other day someone spoke to him about "paying attention" to an old widow. And the old man didn't do a thing but grin in an idiotic way, indicating that he was guilty? When I pass sixty, if a man speaks to me of love, I'll knock him down.

Estray Animals Act.

The act relating to estray animals certainly affords every protection to the farmer or rancher who happens to lose an animal. The act takes in every farm animal from a goose to a Clydesdale and the machinery provided requires a very exhaustive effort to be made to find the owner of an animal. If the finder of an animal knows the owner he is compelled to notify him through the mails and the owner has ten days in which to remove the animal. Failure to do this is liable to involve the finder in a fine of $100 and costs.

If the owner of the estray animal does not know it then he becomes the duty of the finder to go to the nearest pound inspector who shall prepare notices containing the fullest possible description. He must then forward a copy to the department of agriculture, one to the brand recorder at Medicine Hat and the notice must be published twice in the official gazette and three times in the nearest weekly paper. The charge for the latter is $1.50. If the owner is discovered he pays all these costs, and if not the costs are paid out of the proceeds of a sale of the animal. Any owner can recover his animal by paying all costs involved up to the day in which he notifies the finder. No charges can be made other than those stated in the act, and in the event of a disagreement between owner and finder they can use the services of a Justice of the Peace who has full power to finally settle the matter. The Justice is allowed $1 for his work. In default of payment of costs the animal must be taken to the nearest accessible pound and offered for public auction. No finder is allowed directly, or indirectly to become possessed of, or interested in an animal so sold, or if detected in violating this section of the act a fine of $100 is provided for. The section is fixed in the act and brand inspectors and riders and justices are allowed 10 cents a mile mileage fees.

It is absolutely compulsory that the finder of an animal care for it, feed it and use it as he would his own stock and if he is proven guilty of neglect in this respect the court may impose a $100 fine.

If the owner fails to remove an animal after notification he is compelled to pay $1 a day for each day it is left on the finder's premises beyond the time fixed in the act.

When an animal is sold, owing to the owner not being known, the proceeds, after the costs are paid, are sent to the Minister of Agriculture who holds it in trust for one year. If the owner fails to appear at the expiration of that time the money goes to the general revenue of the Province.

There is no "may" about the act. It is a case of "must" and ample provision is made for those guilty of not complying with the law.

Turn Frosted Grain Into Pork

Frosted or unmarketable grain can be made to yield as good a return as No. 1 hard if it is properly fed to hogs. This I know from experience in Saskatchewan. The man who has a lot of such grain on hand should buy all the unfattened pigs he can find, purchasing them as cheaply as possible, of course. He keeps them fat on the original cost of the hogs and the expense of feeding them. He will find, if they are sold at prevailing prices for pork, that the increased weight will bring a return for the feed equivalent to the price of No. 1 Northern. Do not know of any better way to turn low grade grain into cash than by transforming it into pork. We have a good market for hogs in Western Canada just now, and indications are that it will keep up. We are free from cholera and other swine diseases, and when a man undertakes to fatten hogs in this country he is reasonably sure of the outcome. There is no danger of glutting the market, the only trouble is getting the hogs to feed. Steve Takahashi, The Homestead.

ALWAYS A CURLER

Dougall McDougall, writing in the Kenora Miner and News, has the following tribute to pay to the grand old game:

As the days become colder and winter approaches, when curlers meet, the "curling game" comes up for discussion and the hard fought games of last winter are recalled with an accuracy for detail and hearty enthusiasm that to the uninitiated is hard to understand.

It is said saying, once a curler always a curler, and while through pressure of business or other reasons a curler may miss a winter or two, he will invariably sooner or later get back to the game and be the same deep die in the wool enthusiast that he formerly was.

From a very humble and mediocre beginning on the banks of Scotland over a hundred years ago, the game has grown not only in the place of its activity, but also in Canada, to be one of the greatest of winter sports and one in which many hundreds of men as participants take keen and whole hearted enjoyment. Twenty years ago, doubtless an old man's game, curling in Canada today is a thing but that, and a glance over the membership list of any curling club will show the names of athletes of the younger set who would admit that curling is as strenuous as anyone desires. To a young man for Canada is a young man's country—membership in a curling club means social advantages for him, the true value of which should not be underestimated. In every case backed financially and morally by the men who make the standing of a place what it really is, the curling club is an organization which stands for everything that is clean, honest and above reproach in its every detail. At the risk and in the games all men are socially equal, the spirit of fairness, of friendliness, and the lack of selfishness that prevails cannot but make an impression for good upon the young man who there meets with men who have made their marks in all walks of life and with whom he becomes acquainted as perhaps he never would in any other way.

The stability of the game and the foothold it has gained in western Canada especially attest its popularity, and it may safely be said that there is more money invested in curling than in any other branch of sport. Amateurism or professionalism are unknown words to the game, and while bonspiels are such winter held in all parts of the Dominion and house crowds attend, an admission fee is ever charged the spectators who attend the contests. There necessarily must be something more than ordinary about a game which is so widely kept in a healthy and prosperous condition by the players themselves.

To the business man who desires amusement and recreation nothing can compare to the grand old game of games. Business worries are forgotten when a battle is on on the ice and the keen, good natured rivalry that exists for the valuable prizes that are annually put up by the different clubs in itself is an incentive to all players, for curling trophies are given at the annual tournament or bonspiel are usually very handsome and valuable.

Chiefly Claresholm

Be sure to hear Rev. Mr. Rannell in the Methodist Church.

Anthony C. Watson, of Meadow Creek was a Claresholm visitor last Thursday.

W. H. Coyle and M. McConville, from the staff of the '44' were in town this week.

Don't forget the services in the Methodist Church every night except Saturday night.

Chas. W. Egner and wife, Carman, were registered at the Queen's hotel on Tuesday.

John Downes, of Flaxton, B. C., is in town this week. He is getting a chilly reception.

Ed Russell was up to Calgary on business, returning to town on Tuesday night's train.

J. Jack has accepted a position with McKenzie, the barber, and arrived on Friday last.

W. A. Fleck and Chas. Fleck were in from Lethbridge and left Calgary a flying visit last Friday.

C. McLaughlin, of Lethbridge, the International Harvester man was a business visitor yesterday.

Mrs. L. N. Graham, of Canyon, Alta., who at one time had interests here and is a visit last Monday.

Jim and Alex Stevenson had a visit from their brother Richard, now of Armstrong, B. C., on Wednesday.

W. L. Dooks, of Calgary, in the interests of his company, the Imperial Life, was a business visitor yesterday.

C. H. Westmore of Meadow Creek smiled on his friend here yesterday. Smiles are at a premium since this last snow.

G. Graham, representing the Clark Bros., of Winnipeg, was doing business in town here for a few days this week.

A. E. Quayle, publisher of the Carmanagay Sun, and brother of the late proprietor of the Review, was in town on Sunday.

Meadow Creek was well represented last Monday. Travis Bagley, G. R. Stewart and J. W. McKinnon were in from the Creek.

W. L. Dooks, of Calgary, representing the Imperial Life Assurance Co., was in town this week. While here he appointed C. E. Todd as agent for the company in Claresholm.

W. A. Marlat, the Creamery proprietor, was here last Friday on a business trip. It is learned that Nathan is working toward a century of their own in the near future.

C. W. Coady a Stately boniface was in town on Sunday. E. Kirkpatrick, also of the same town, was here on Tuesday. The Sunday dinner at the Queen's is a very potent attraction.

C. E. Todd has several connections with the Review and is contemplating entering into a business partnership in Claresholm in the near future.

Mr. Todd was a Calgary visitor yesterday.

In spite of the cold weather, progress is being made at the dam. The work is about three parts done. It is expected the permanent dam will be completed by the end of this month.

E. W. Taylor and Walter Prelling were explaining the advantages of the same C.P.R. industrial division in Calgary to our townsfolk. It is understood a good business was done in these talks.

"One of our local implement men was taking advantage of the heavy fall of the beautiful" yesterday by airing his heater. It looked natural to old Ontario folks to see the winter turn-out again.

R. T. Parker, International C&C Co., representative of Lethbridge, was here on Friday last. Every coal mine is searched upon arriving here and any coal concealed on his person confiscated.

Sale of Work—Dance

The ladies forming the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of St. John, the Evangelist here will hold their annual sale of work on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, November 29th, in the L.O.O.F. Hall. In the evening a dance will be given by the ladies. Everyone should keep this date in mind.

Seeks Discussion

In other columns are reprinted two articles dealing with high insurance.

The subject is most important one and it is well that an expression of public opinion should be had after the matter has been well weighed and discussed. The subject will be treated editorially later and expression of opinion is desired from those in this district who are most interested, viz: the farmers.

As an aftermath of the assault on a prominent legal gentleman last week, his assailant was before the J.P. last week and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed and he was bound in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for a year.

The decision of Justice Stuart, just handed down, in the famous suit, Province of Alberta vs. A. & G. W., is a victory for the province. In all probability the suit will be traversed to higher courts but the first round is Premier Sifton's.

H. T. Armstrong, of Great Falls, Mont., is paying us another visit. Threshing has not advanced very much since his last visit. The acreage and yield is so great that the fifteen to twenty outfits operating in this district have made a very small impression on the big crop.

Cyrus Crowder, who has accepted the position of farm superintendent for the Chequamegon River, arrived here on Monday. It is expected that Mr. Crowder will move his family to Claresholm for the winter so that he may attend to his duties in the '44' and still be near his family.

Wm. Moriarty, of Parkland, was in town last Monday. He reports the same condition of affairs in his district as prevail here, delayed threshing and even harvesting in some cases. There was a dearth of threshing outfits as well as a dearth of good threshing weather, as here.

Every lover of music in this community should avail himself of herself of the splendid opportunity to hear the Grand Opera Singers at the L.O.O.F. Hall on Friday, November 15th. Remember these opportunities seldom come to us. Don't let the one pass without your hearing them.

Alfred Eastham, the Dominion Seed Branch representative from Calgary, was in town for a few days last week. The frosted grain problem is his engrossing subject of study. He issues a warning, referred to in another column, to farmers with regard to the danger of using such grain as seed.

NOTICE

A meeting of those who want to curl will be held in the Council Chambers at 7:30 to-morrow night—Saturday. Don't fail to attend.

A Success

The Chicken Pie Supper at the Methodist Church last Thursday night was a gratifying success. The provision of the ladies for the inner man has been a success in good place realized by the large crowd who patronized the supper and the program which followed was very good. A new contributor was discovered in the person of Mr. Nelson, who is on the staff of the Independent Grain Co., here. Mrs. Brooks of Meadow Creek also sang on Sunday evening.

The people of Taber have estimates of $4000 for the construction of a risk 120 ft x 100 ft and 12 ft high, allowing for two curing sheds, under one roof and with seating capacity for 500 spectators. This is financed with $500 of actual cash and a light assessment covering three years. We are assured that Claresholm could finance a $3500 proposition on the $500 the Claresholm Risk, assess, expect to spend and the $500 or $600 the citizens expect to require. We know that a building could be erected in three weeks time and be ready for occupation as soon as the other smaller risks could be made ready. We also know that it would be in the best interests of this town as an advertisement of the local outlook, as permitting a permanent organization of the skaters, as adding to comfort and lengthening the skating season of the spectators, as giving them an opportunity to witness skating, messengers and lucky matches in greater comfort.

"No, I'll be hanged if I'll go to be shot. I'll stay and fight with you," and, seizing his rifle, he joined Jack in stopping a rush of the Apaches.

"We stopped them just then," Jack cried, with satisfaction. "In the full he again urged his comrade to escape to the horse and return to Echo. 'Take the horse,' he insisted. 'Go while there's a chance.'"

"Not so fast," Dick determinedly. "It was as much his fight as Jack's now."

Jack thought more for Echo in that moment than he did for himself. Here was the man who had saved him, and he was back to her. The woman's happiness depended upon it. But Jack realized that while he was there Dick would stay. One supreme sacrifice was necessary.

"Go," he cried, "I'll stand up and let 'em get me."

"No, we can hold them off," begged Dick, firing as he spoke.

Swiftly Jack lay down and faced the Indians.

"Goodbye!" he cried to his comrade. Dick struggled to his feet and then himself on Jack to see him down behind the barricade. For a moment both men were in full view of the

The volleys, the difference in the reports of the rifles, proved to him that the fight was on. He knew that the Apaches were being held off, clattering back to the front, he reported this to his commander.

The lances sounded. The horses were forced to gallop. With clashing accoutrements and jingling spurs and his dashed across the mesa to the head of the trail. Here they met Slim Horse and his posse coming from an opposite direction.

The firing in the canyon was more intermittent now. Dick and Jack were saving their revolver shots. The Indians were closing in for the last rush.

Hardie dismounted his men and threw his troops as groups of skirmishers down the draws leading into one side of the canyon. Slim and his posse were on the left flank, armed with revolvers. Hardie, with a section, dashed down the trail.

They came upon the Apaches with the rank of a mountain troop, striking them in the front and on the flank. The cavalrymen died at will, each plunging from one cover to another as he picked out his man.

The Indians for a few moments relied shot for shot. Their stand was a short one, however, and they began to fall back.

Slim entered the canyon at the head of the second division of the Apaches before him. Both Jack and Dick followed. Across the bodies a wave of battle flowed.

Once the Indians rallied, but so sudden was the attack, so irresistible the forward dash of the cavalrymen, that they became discouraged and broke and fled toward the horses, with the pursuit.

Slim hurried to Dick's aid, seeing he was the worst hurt. As the least he could do, he recalled the cry, and he smiled. Leaning over him, Slim heard him gently whisper, "Tell her I know she was true and not to mind."

With a deep sigh, his eyelids fluttered, and all was still.

The scouts had taken charge of Jack, who was unconscious and bleeding freely.

From the front of the line, Dick saw the Indians reaching the horses and feverish as they were, they were not so far off.

Scattering shots followed them. For those who died on foot was result will be. The Tables were turned, and by medicine dealers or by mail at least a box from The Druggists, Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ONE SINGLE PILL GAVE GREAT RELIEF FOUR BOXES CURED HIM

It is down in the valley of the Sweetwater. The outlet of Sweetwater ranch has gained for the nation a new and the drive to the railroad in the absence of her husband Echo.

Both Jack and Dick had been struck. Jack was the first to recover. Feeling he struggled out of the clasp of his unconscious comrade. "Dick, hi hi hi," he said to himself, "and so am I. I'll fight it out to the last, and if they charge they won't get us alive."

Dick groaned and opened his eyes. "I'm hit hard," he whispered. "You'd better go."

Jack was on his hands and knees crawling toward his friend when his comrade spoke.

"Listen," he replied. "We're close. I'll hold you up as long as I can, but if they rush save one shot for yourself. You understand?"

"Yes, not alive," answered Dick meekly, his voice thin and his face ashen and white with pain.

Jack reached the powder and, with an effort, raised himself and peered over the edge.

"They're getting ready. Will you take my hand now?" he asked as he held it out to Dick.

"I sure will," his wounded comrade cried, grasping it with all the strength he possessed.

Jack smiled in his happiness. He felt he had made his peace with all men and at last was ready to meet death with a clear conscience.

"It looks like the end, but we'll fight it for it."

The shrill warwhoops of the Indians, the first sound they had made in the fight, showed they felt confident of overcoming the men in the next hour.

Jack and Dick had abandoned the rifles and were now striking the Indians off with their revolvers as they closed in on them.

Hardie had halted the night before at Clearwater spring. Finding it late and dark, he had merely rested his men and horses in a few hours and then pushed on for Apache spring, where he hoped to find the trail.

The troop rode through the early morning hours, full of fire and life in the morning. The horses of whose flight were becoming more evident every mile. All weariness had vanished. Even the horses felt there were some things in the air and the wind caught with fresh force and at the spring. He did not need to investigate, knowing he could do nothing else.

"One of Buck's outfit," answered Fresno. "He is mighty sick with the malarial fever, and he's got to be carried off."

"We can't be too careful," warned Sagbrush. "Things are strained to the hilt here, and any promise of gun play is going to set off a whole lot of fireworks."

Show Low was on the verge of waking up. This he did by gradually increasing the volume of each snore and breaking it off with a whistle.

At this very moment Sagbrush suggested gun play. Show Low snorted his fondest.

"What's that?" asked Sagbrush, grabbing his revolver.

"Show Low. He's a regular brass band when he gets started—from the big trombone down to the tin whistle," laughed Fresno.

"It's a wonder he can sleep alone of that noise," said Sagbrush.

MOONEY'S BISCUITS

ONE TIRED WOMAN AND ONE LITTLE OVEN

You have probably been there yourself—perhaps are right now. Bright women all over Canada are getting away from this. They welcome MOONEY'S BISCUITS as a most acceptable substitute for their own bread and biscuits.

MOONEY'S PERFECTION SODA BISCUITS

are the crispest, creamiest crackers made. Better still, they are baked in Winnipeg; right at your very door. They come to you fresh as the product of your own oven.

You can have them in air-tight packages or sealed tins as you prefer.

Valuable Water-Power

It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway has secured a valuable water-power in British Columbia, near the west end of Stunaway Lake. Reports have reported that it is capable of developing 10,000 h.p. at two points between Adams Lake and the west end of the Stunaway Lake.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, it is stated, has in view the generation of power for the propulsion of a portion of its lines through the mountains. This step will not be taken for some years yet, of course, but the railway has secured the power with an eye to the future.

A Live Question

An M. P.'s Suggestion.

J. E. Stauffer, M. P. of Idaho, has a plan to solve the land insurance problem. He would adopt the principle of taxation of land values.

Mr. Stauffer outlined his scheme in an Edmonton paper. He has outlined his scheme to the government.

"Provincial taxation for land insurance," he believes, the only satisfactory plan," and Mr. Stauffer, "And I am of the opinion that a valuation rather than an acreage basis should be adopted. It is a simple matter. All wild land would be assessed on the same basis as cultivated land in the same vicinity and enjoying the same natural advantages. It would be unfair to impose a heavier tax on the farmer who has spent time and energy in the cultivation of his land, in the erection of buildings and fences and the plowing up of the soil, than is imposed on the speculative holder of an adjoining uncultivated area of good land. I would in fact go so far as to bonus the man who improves his property. I would impose a smaller tax upon him than up on the man who does nothing to increase the value of his holding.

"I would classify the land as 'improved,' 'unimproved' and 'unavailable.' The owner of improved land and available land should pay the smaller acreage tax; the owner of land of good quality should pay the larger tax. In arriving at the assessment quality of the soil, and of the water supply, distance from railroads, and general transportation facilities, and all such factors should not be called upon to bear any large fraction of the burden. The man who holds or farms land near to a railroad should bear a large share."

Mr. Stauffer is of the opinion that the land insurance tax might well be administered by the new rural municipalities which are to be created by legislation at the forthcoming session. The municipalities will be empowered to conduct general taxation, in accordance with the bill to be introduced by Hon. Duncan Marshall, the land insurance tax might be levied and collected.

A Great Discovery

Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth when Properly Combined

Research has caused the most effective hair restorers ever discovered to be combined in connection with a scalp conditioner, which is both germicidal and antipruritic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which cause the hair to fall out, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new dandruff.

Philosophy, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a "knowing" ingredient for restoring hair to its natural color, when the loss of hair has been caused by a disease of the scalp. These ingredients in proper combination, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well defined nourishing properties, perhaps the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

We have recently which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely valuable medical agents. We guarantee it positively cures dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp is in a state of bare hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or we will refund your money. If the scalp has a ghastly, shaly appearance, it is an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances we believe baldness is curable.

We want everyone troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try "Reall 363" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a positive cure in 93 per cent of cases where put to a practical test.

Reall 363 Hair Tonic is entirely unlike, and we think, in every particular, better than anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire risk. Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember, you can obtain Reall Remedies in Clareholm only at our store--The Reall Store, O. L. Reincke.

Prizes for Essays

The names of the winning schools will each year be engraved upon the cups.

The personal prize of £5.00 has been won this year by James L. Marshall, of the Brisbane Grammar School Queensland, while a large number of competitors from all parts of the Empire obtained honorable mention.

The personal prize of £1.00 was won by Ethel Beatrice Lee, of Raffles Girls' School, Singapore, Straits Settlements.

The judges are: Prof. Ernest Gardner, (London University) and Rev. L. O. Brown (College of Preceptors). All particulars of the Essay Competitions may be obtained through the Department of Education, Edmonton or directly from the League of the Empire, Claxton Hall, Westminster, London, S.W., England.

Hair Insurance for Saskatchewan

(Regina Leader)

Acting on instructions given by the executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, Mr. Geo. Lang, and Mr. Charles A. Dunne, are compelled by Mr. Paynter, waited on the provincial government recently for the purpose of laying before them the resolutions passed at the last convention of the Association.

The members of the government present were Messrs. Scott, MacNair and Motherwell.

In a letter published in the Grain Growers' Guide, the delegates say:

"The government promised their most careful consideration of all the resolutions presented, particularly at a time being paid to the one dealing with hair insurance, upon which Mr. Paynter read a carefully prepared paper, explaining and amplifying the resolutions passed by the convention."

"The government seemed very interested, indeed over this proposal. They asked a number of questions, which each member of the delegation assisted in clarifying, and at their request we left Mr. Paynter's paper with them, in order that they might have their thoughts on the matter under discussion."

"The government seemed to regard the whole proposition with very great interest, and while they did not give us any definite promise, each member of the delegation was under the impression that we might reasonably hope to see the suggestions embodied in legislation at no distant period, possibly during the next session of parliament."

The following is a copy of the paper on hair insurance presented to the government by Mr. Paynter, which may be said to give a skeleton outline of the scheme proposed, which, of course, as was pointed out by the delegates, needs to be altered and modified to be entirely practicable.

Mr. Paynter's Paper

Sir,

Some time previous to the dissolution of the government last in session in 1908, the idea of a better plan of insurance was being put forward by the farmers of the province, and at the Grain Growers' Convention of 1908 at Saskatoon, and 1910 at Regina, the discussion of this subject occupied a considerable portion of those conventions. At the assembling of the convention at Prince Albert in 1910, it became evident that the delegates were almost evenly divided on the question of hair insurance. One faction seemed determined to pass a resolution, asking the Provincial government to pass a bill for compulsory hair insurance, while the other faction would be assessed and taxed twenty cents per acre.

The other faction, coming from those places where stock raising was the principal industry or from districts which had not yet been visited by hail, were just as determined that the resolution should not pass, and while this discussion was in progress I saw the probability of nothing the two factions on lines which would be agreeable to both parties, so I quickly prepared the following resolutions, which were passed by unanimous vote at the convention of over six hundred delegates from all parts of the province.

"Whereas the hail insurance companies now operating in Saskatchewan are not doing a business acceptable to the farmers of the province;

"Therefore be it resolved that a provincial hail insurance system be established, the revenue for the said system to be raised by a tax not exceeding two cents per acre, and that to be subject to said assessment, providing that any resident ratepayer is allowed to register out one section or less from the assessment and participate in the benefits."

Then, after a year of thought and study given to this question the same resolution was again passed unanimously at the convention held in Regina during the present year. So you will understand that we come to you only after careful and due consideration of this once difficult problem provincial hail insurance.

The resolution contains the plan in general, but we have gone further and worked out the plan in detail, and we wish to draw your attention to the fact that the legislation we are asking is voluntary in its nature, merely putting into the hands of the farmers of this province legislative machinery, which they may use or not as they desire. No community or individual is compelled to do anything but what he or she wishes to do, having the option of not paying the tax, and then, of course, not participating in its benefits.

This plan of voluntary legislation, which will not be a burden on the previous legislation by your government.

As an instance, I might cite the Telephone and Elevator Bills, introduced and passed by your government, and the popular way in which these bills have been received by the people should give you assurance in following along the same line in relation to hail insurance.

That the present system of company insurance is not satisfactory to the farmers of this province. We wish to point to the declaration in this resolution, and, as corroborative proof, we might compare the total amount of crop acres in the province with the total amount of insurance loss by the several companies operating within its boundaries, and then we must remember that a great many of the farmers taking out company insurance would be insured for nothing better offered. And in case the government decide to pass a hail insurance bill, we would propose that the private companies be allowed to continue their operations and let the farmers themselves decide which system was the most economical from their standpoint. There are three considerations of the company system is expensive to the farmer: First, the heavy cost of securing business; second, heavy cost of settling claims for damages, and third, the unsatisfactory method of determining the percentage of loss if the crop is not altogether destroyed; and I might say, fourth, the natural desire of the company to make good dividends for its stockholders.

The bill which we respectfully ask your government to pass should provide:

First, that the extension of the hail insurance area should be effected by a majority vote of any rural municipality or local improvement district.

Second, that at least six municipalities or local improvement districts should elect to come under the hail insurance ordinance before any would be authorized to levy a hail tax.

Third, that the tax shall be fixed at two cents per acre on all lands situated within these municipalities and should not be reduced until a reserve fund had accumulated equal to twice the annual tax of the past preceding year.

Fourth, that any ratepayer residing in such municipalities shall have the privilege upon receiving notice of assessment of paying the assessment in full, or of withdrawing from the payment of such tax and participating in its benefits out of one section of land by voluntarily paying the assessment for the municipality within thirty days of the mailing of such assessment notices.

Fifth, that two and one-half per cent of all claims collected shall be retained by the municipalities levying such tax, the balance to be forwarded to the government of Saskatchewan or before the first day of December in each year.

Sixth, that the government shall hold such moneys paid in by the several municipalities in trust to be used exclusively for settlement of hail losses, to cover necessary expenses of disbursement.

Seventh, that all claims for indemnity under the provisions of the act must be made by registered letter to the secretary-treasurer of the municipality within thirty days after such loss, and not later than the fifteenth day of September in the year the loss was sustained; provided also that the claimant must submit evidence of the loss, and that such damaged grain shall forthwith furnish a declaration to that effect, also stating the value of such crop per acre, for food purposes.

Eighth, that all claims for indemnity under the act should be passed by the municipal council under whose jurisdiction the lands are situated before being paid by the government; provided also that should the funds held by the government for hail insurance be sufficient to settle all claims in full, then the whole amount of the claim should be returned to the claimant; provided also that should the fund be appropriated equally over all claims passed by the several municipal councils; provided also that any local improvement district shall have the same privileges under the act as the rural municipalities.

Ninth, that any applicant for reimbursement under the act upon furnishing satisfactory evidence to the municipal council as to the percentage of crop damage shall be entitled to receive six cents per acre for every one per cent damage to said crop.

Tenth, each municipality coming under the act shall appoint a municipal hail inspector, who shall inspect all losses, and in each case the expense of such inspection shall be deducted from the amount of money due in settlement of such claim.

The two cents per acre would give a revenue of $447.20 from each municipality of nine townships, which would raise the insurance fund to the sum of $447.20 for the first assessment under the act.

Illustrated "Travelogue"

On Tuesday, Nov. 14th, in the L.O.O.F. Opera House John P. Conn will present a most interesting entertainment in the form of an illustrated "Travel Talk" on California, "that winterless land by the sunset sea." The "Talk" will be profusely illustrated by beautiful colored slides and most entertaining and instructive moving picture films. His description is of the Flower State, where the air is heavy with the fragrance of orange blossoms; where the delicious fruitage of orchards and vineyards is ripening every month in the year; amid summer sunshine and wealth of bloom; where the prevailing winds blow in over 10,000 miles of sea, pure as the breath of heaven and delightfully soothing in their moderate temperature; and where there are ruins which recall enchanting stories from the chiding centuries of the past. He will carry you on an imaginary journey through a delectable country where the ground never freezes and the skies are peaceful and serene. An admission fee of 10 and 25 cents will be charged. Come and forget the cold inhospitable climate without.

Favorite of the West

No home in this Western country can well afford to be without "The Family Herald and Weekly Star," of Montreal. It is particularly useful in Western homes. The information it gives to the new settlers, and old settlers as well, is worth hundreds of dollars a year. It is simply marvelous the amount of good instructive matter that paper contains each week. It well deserves its success. One dollar cannot be better invested in Western homes than by ordering that great paper. A beautiful premium picture entitled "Home Again" is also included, and it is well worth the dollar alone.
